

Most livestock farmers and herders are stewards of important ecosystem services.

They provide key ecosystem services.